Property-tax hike is proposed

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus officials are bracing themselves for the numerous comments and questions due this week as residents receive their tax assessment notices.

Generally, property values in Wayne County have gone up this year, according to studies of the Wayne County Assessment and Equalization Division. The study shows property values in Romulus have risen approximately 6.2 percent.

Matthew Raftary, assessment director for Romulus, was on hand during the city council meeting Monday night to explain the property assessment.

Romulus residents will not see the 6.2 increase across the board, he said.

"Increases will range from two to eight percent depending on sales where you live," Raftary said. "We try to track where the activity is in the market in the different neighborhoods."

A major reason for a rise in property values is the decrease in interest rates, Raftary said, which is creating a seller's market.

The average property value increase in Romulus is expected to be 4.75 percent, Raftary said. For a $40,000 single-family home that would mean an increase in assessment of $950.

For tax purposes, Raftary said, an assessment increase of $1,000 would indicate an increase in city tax by $10.67, in county tax by $11.37 and in school tax by $49.15.

These increases are not as drastic as those in nearby communities, Raftary stressed.

"We have not really kept up with the other communities... We're not taking the heftiest increase in Wayne County," Raftary said.

Property values have risen 16.06 percent in Canton Township, 19.36 percent in Plymouth Township, 14.71 percent in Livonia, 9.89 percent in Westland, 10.42 percent in Huron Township and 7.92 percent in Taylor, according to Raftary.

The only community in West-ern Wayne County with a lower increase than Romulus is Inkster, with a 2.25 percent increase in property values.

Best friends Mother stands behind daughter

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

Mothers and daughters share a bond that should never be broken and compassion that stretches beyond any possible conflict.

Jennifer Buzonowski has that type of relationship with her mother, Valerie Gagnon, during a time considered to be tumultuous for teens and parents.

At age 15, Buzonowski is pregnant. Gagnon, who was a young mother herself, is coping with the situation better than most people would.

"I don't know what I would have done without my mom. She's been so supportive," Buzonowski said.

Buzonowski recently wrote a winning essay which detailed the relationship between herself and her mother. Gagnon could hardly believe what her daughter wrote. She was very moved.

"My mom has always been there for me anytime I had a problem. She doesn't yell at me. She says to do what is right for me," Buzonowski said.

Gagnon admits that she is not necessarily pleased with the way things have worked out for her daughter, but she is willing to accept her daughter's decisions and is anxious to make things as comfortable as possible.

"I spent the past 15 years trying to talk to her so this wouldn't happen to her like it did to me," Gagnon said. "But it did happen, so we will work it out."

Gagnon learned of her daughter's pregnancy from the doctor, before Buzonowski had an opportunity to tell her.

"I didn't know if I wanted to hit her, hug her or slug her,"

Gagnon said.

Buzonowski, a 10th-grader at Romulus Senior High School, remained in school until last semester. She is a good student but could do even better if she would put more effort into studying, her mother said.

She attended Garden City Alternative High School in a program for pregnant teens for a while. Classes offered there focus on pre-natal care and caring for a newborn. Buzonowski left school before Christmas but plans to return in the fall.

Buzonowski looks young for her age. Sitting at a table, one would never believe the youth is expecting a baby.

Buzonowski's baby is due any day now, and her mother will be in the delivery room as her Lamaze coach. The 15-year-old

An $8 million construction project for Romulus has been put on hold by city officials.

During a study session Monday night, members of city council reviewed a study of space needs which was commissioned by the Romulus Building Authority. The study, which was conducted by Conquillard/Dundon/Peterson and Argents, Inc, calls for an expanded city hall with connecting corridors to a new police station and an expanded 34th District Court. It also calls for a new animal shelter to be built nearby.

Most councilmembers expressed concern over the costs of such a project.

Dennis Dundon presented the plan.

"I like your plan. I just don't know how we're going to pay for it," said Mary Ann Banks, mayor pro tem.

Options for funding were discussed, but councilmembers chose to study the information more carefully and consider all the possibilities.

Dundon explained the reasoning behind the expansion project. He said his firm interviewed various department chairmen with the city to determine what types of space needs would be necessary in the decade ahead.

Through this process, representatives of his firm determined the maximum and minimum amount of growth expected in each department by the year 2000. Approximately 7,000 square feet will be needed to meet that growth, Dundon said.

Additional space, he said, would also be needed for meetings and storage, bringing the total addition to 24,000 square feet - larger than the existing building.

"This is an opportunity to connect the various facilities," Dundon said. "The marking of a master plan is that it has flexibility for the future."

Most councilmembers agreed the plan would have to be completed in stages or funding would be impossible.

Councilman Pete Bergeron said costs of furnishing such a facility must also be taken into consideration.

Councilmembers were told that an $8.8 million bond to fund the entire project would cost the city approximately $790,000 per year in debt services.

The city is still responsible for yearly payments of $151,000 until 1994 to pay for the current city hall, according to Mayor Beverly McAnally.

McAnally spoke of the need for the enlarged civic center. She referred to the blockage of exits in city hall by makeshift office facilities in the hallway. McAnally also commented on problems with the current police station.

McAnally said a lawsuit against the city stemmed from the placement of a female prisoner in a holding cell with an unconscious male prisoner.

Options for funding the projects include a millage increase and new revenue from a parking tax. The parking tax brought in $40,000 in January.

"That may fluctuate. We don't have a real guarantee or experience to draw on," McAnally said. She added the city will probably gain revenue from development projects in the future, but once again there are no guarantees.

"Before we make a decision we have to have a concrete plan on how any one of the projects would be funded," Banks said.

2 men are wounded in Romulus shooting

Two men were shot at 3:25 a.m. Saturday in the parking lot of Ebony Hall on Wayne Road, according to Romulus police officials.

One of the men, Walter Bradley, 21, of Westland, remains in fair condition at the Westland Medical Center. He was reportedly shot twice in the chest.

Shawn Austin, 20, of Inkster, was admitted to the medical center for a gunshot wound to his lower right arm. He was treated and released.

The victims in this incident have yet to provide police with a description of the man who reportedly shot them.

Witnesses, according to police officials, claim the culprit fled on foot immediately after the shooting. Police officials believe the confrontation was a carry-over of an argument that began in Ebony Hall.

This case remains under investigation.

Administrators want strong future for Help Center

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Administrators of the Romulus Help Center are determined to carve out a strong future for their facility.

The Romulus Help Center has been in existence since 1970. It currently operates in three major areas: senior citizen services (1,920 clients in 22 communities), youth services and substance abuse treatment. The center employs approximately 30 part-time workers and 10 contractual employees.

A budget of approximately $560,000 for all agency expenses is anticipated for the 1988-89 fiscal year, according to Tom Gondek, who has volunteered his services as a consultant to implement a computerized accounting program for the center.

With numerous calls for help and responsibility for a wide range of services, the future of the non-profit help center has appeared shaky at times, administrators admit.

"We've had times," said Joan Oddy, board of directors president. "We're revamping. Good things always seem to happen. You reach periods of time where you struggle, but it comes."

The center does not always realize 100 percent reimbursement for services Gondek said. He sets up a typical scenario for agency funding.

The help center may spend up to $160,000 in one month, Gondek said. After donations from state and federal agencies the balance may go down to $42,000. Private donations bring the total to $16,000 or $17,000, he continued. Some of the 22 cities served by the center chip in $2,000. A balance of $1,400 remains. "That is eaten by the agency," Gondek said.

He blames several factors for this problem including the low-key image of the Romulus Help Center.

"We have to depend on those donations...on our ability to market ourselves as a quality, reliable agency," Gondek said.

Because of this concern, a marketing project is in the works for the center. It will include video tapes showing center personnel in action. Equipment and services will be donated by Gondek.

Meanwhile, the agency has managed to survive despite uncertainties.

"We've managed to make it all work," he said. "We haven't run into the hole. Sometimes you ride the edge a lot," Gondek said.

When asked if trimming some fat would help, Gondek said that option does not exist for the center.

"This place has no fat. We can use additional staff. We're cut down to the bone...I've gone over this place with a fine-toothed comb," Gondek remarked.

A major challenge facing the center is lack of support from some of the cities it services, Gondek said.

"We service many cities that don't give us a dime," he said.

Gondek referred to a letter of thanks from a senior citizen served by the help center. The woman said she appreciates the personal care she receives from a help center worker, a weekly bath. But she wishes she could receive a bath twice a

Man charged in 'freezer death'

The Canton Township man accused in the "freezer death" of his wife will face charges of second-degree murder.

Leonard Tyburski was bound over for trial in the Wayne County Circuit Court on the charges, following a preliminary examination in the Plymouth 35th District Court Thursday. Tyburski was remanded to the Wayne County jail, after failing to post a $250,000 bond.

35th District Court Judge James Garber presided during the preliminary examination.

It was Stanyar's contention, supported by Tyburski's own verbal statement recorded by police, that he and his wife were arguing about an alleged love affair between Dorothy and Tyburski's daughter's boyfriend at the time, Craig Albright, of Westland.

Tyburski's written statement was read during the preliminary examination by Canton police Detective Richard Pomorski.

"As much as I can remember," the statement began, "my wife wanted me to leave the house. I told her I loved her and would not leave. She began to throw objects, came at me with a steak knife. I grabbed her and hit her head on the beam several times. I pushed her away. She fell backward into the freezer, still yelling obscenities."

Testimony by Wayne County Assistant Medical Examiner L.J. Dragovic disputed Tyburski's claim that his wife fell into the freezer. Dragovic said that Dorothy Tyburski died as the result of "at least" 11 blunt blows to the head.

"The person would have been rendered unconscious," Dragovic said. "There is such an extensive injury to the brain, even a lesser number of blows would have caused unconsciousness. The decedent was placed into that freezer."

Dragovic said it is possible that Dorothy Tyburski was alive for a short period of time following the blows to her head.

Second-degree murder carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment. Parole is available.

Affiliation is finalized

An affiliation agreement between the Wayne-based United Care health-care organization - the private, nonprofit successor to the Peoples Community Hospital Authority - and Oakwood Health Services Corp. was finalized last week.

The agreement will result in the largest and most comprehensive health-care system in western Wayne County. Downriver and eastern Washtenaw County areas, according to hospital officials.

United Care operates the 1,154-bed former PCHA system, including Annapolis Hospital, in Wayne; Beyer Memorial, in Ypsilanti; Heritage Hospital, in Taylor; Outer Drive, in Lincoln Park; Seaway, in Trenton; and several clinics and related health-care facilities.

Oakwood is a 687-bed full-service health-care system that serves more than 1 million people in the area. OHSC also operates 13 satellite centers in Allen Park, Belleville, Canton Township, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Lincoln Park, Taylor, Trenton and Westland.

Parks chief is named

New Boston resident Ralph A. Rakotz has been named park maintenance supervisor for the Lower Huron, Willow and Oakwoods Metroparks, located in western Wayne County.

He began at the Lower Huron Metropark, located near Belleville, July 8, 1957, where he worked on grounds maintenance and later was promoted to foreman.

He is a 1957 graduate of Romulus High School. He succeeds John G. Ward, of Carleton, who retired last month.

Assembly-line broadcast

It wasn't just the normal workday at the Ford Wayne Assembly Plant, on Michigan Avenue, in Wayne, Thursday. WLLZ (98.7 FM) radio personalities Jim Johnson (right) and George Baier took their show, "J.J. & The Morning Crew," on the road and stopped at the local auto plant. The radio disc jockeys toured the plant, at which Ford Escorts are produced, and interviewed line workers for an on-the-air treat. The assembly plant is currently undergoing a more than $300 million expansion. By the year 1991, a new model of Ford Escort will be produced there. Local car dealers not happy with hours rule

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

Local car dealers are outraged by a recent decision of the Federal Trade Commission which could force dealerships in the Detroit area to stay open 64 hours per week for one year.

The decision came after members of the commission determined dealership hours were being limited in order to keep car prices high.

For local dealerships the ruling would mean an additional eight business hours per week.

John Rogin, owner of John Rogin Buick, in Wayne, said the new ruling would probably cause an increase in new car prices due to overtime pay doled out to sales staff.

"To keep the dealerships open additional hours, it would cost additional money. Traditionally, cars in the Wayne area cost less," Rogin said. "Additional advertisement dollars will also have to be used for the Saturday sales, if we do stay open Saturdays."

The sales staff of most dealerships are also opposed to the decision. Rogin said most salespeople already work approximately 50 hours per week.

"It's going to be more difficult to attract qualified individuals into our industry," Rogin said.

Rogin believes the job of car salesman would no longer appeal to people who have roots in the community and who plan to stay for awhile. This type of person wants to spend the weekend with his or her family, Rogin said.

Al Tanski, used car manager at Don Massey Cadillac, in Plymouth, said it should be left up to the owner of the dealership to set hours.

"We think this decision stinks. This is America, it is not Russia where they can tell you when to do or not do business," Tanski said. "We are open 61 hours per week and we feel we can open and close when we want to."

Sunshine Honda, in Plymouth, is one of few local dealers open Saturdays, according to Robert Schultz, general manager. Business is good and the car salesmen don't mind working the weekends, he said.

"We have good business on Saturdays. Plus we give our salesmen one day off during the week," Schultz said. "I think the decision was inevitable. But more dealerships are opening on Saturdays now."

New county prison not likely in area

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

A new Wayne County jail will not likely be constructed in western Wayne County, according to county officials.

Members of the county jail-site selection committee staged a second public hearing in Hamtramck last week. The hearing was conducted to receive local feedback to the possibility of the jail being constructed there.

"People were there with questions and concerns, but I think they left the meeting with a pretty good feeling," said Deputy Wayne County Executive Michael Duggan.

A final decision on where the 840-bed minimum-security facility will be constructed is expected by the end of the month, Duggan said.

Highland Park and Hamtramck appear to be likely sites for the jail, although officials from another city have also submitted a proposal.

The city of Romulus was also a possible site. County officials conducted a public hearing there Jan. 24.

However, the city is no longer a jail-site possibility, Duggan said, because of a lack of interest by Romulus city officials.

"We stopped pursuing Romulus when they said they weren't interested," Duggan said.

Romulus city officials approved a resolution Feb. 6 which, in essence, said "thanks, but no thanks" to the new jail. City officials said they appreciated being considered, but they were not interested in having the jail built in their city.

A site in Westland was also once considered for the jail. The county-owned Eloise property, at Michigan Avenue and Merriman Road, was last year named as a top contender for the jail.

Today, the Eloise property remains a backup site "if all else fails," Duggan said.

Westland city officials expressed their opposition to the possibility of a jail in Westland when it was proposed last year. They hope to develop the Eloise land for a use that will coincide with the expansion of the Detroit Metropolitan Airport, in Romulus.

Nevertheless, county officials believe officials from other communities do want the jail in their cities, in addition to officials from Hamtramck and Highland Park. However, only those communities with formal proposals already submitted to the county will be considered for the new jail, Duggan said.

The $6 million jail will be funded by a special tax increase approved by voters Aug. 8. Wayne County residents approved a 0.5-mill increase in county taxes for the project.

Construction of the jail is expected to begin this spring. The facility will open in early 1991.

Resident skips court date

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Romulus resident Robert Tigner, 34, who failed to show up for arraignment in Wayne County Circuit Court Wednesday.

The warrant was issued by Judge Beverly Jasper.

Tigner is already facing charges of possession of less than 25 grams of cocaine with intent to deliver, charges to which he has pleaded not guilty.

Romulus police officers arrested Tigner in a raid Jan. 25. His preliminary exam was Feb. 8 at the 34th District Court, in Romulus.

City modernizes local signs

City officials have agreed to submit bids for a computerized sign maker, a device which could result in a 75 percent savings for local signs.

The sign maker would allow for a wider range of letter sizes, according to Department of Public Works Director James Panos.

With in-house equipment, the city would save time and money lost to delivery, Panos said.

An average street sign currently costs the city $16.75, according to Panos. With the computerized sign maker it would cost $5. A special informational sign, such as one for a dumpster, costs the city $585 now. It would cost $100 with the sign maker, Panos said.

The Romulus Department of Public Works is responsible for signs for itself, all city vehicles, the 34th District Court, the Romulus Police Department, the senior center and City Hall as well as for all city roads. The city signs are expected to require replacement within two years, Panos said.

Recreation needs funding grant

Members of the Romulus Recreation Commission are looking to the state as a possible source of funding.

In light of the recreation bond issue passed in November, commission members are researching their chances of obtaining grant money from the state.

If a grant is feasible, an application would probably be sent in April 1990, according to Debbie Dick, director of the Romulus Recreation Department. By that time, commission members would have a better idea of what will be needed, she said.

In addition, commission members hope to work closely with officials of the Romulus school district to discuss plans for a swimming pool to be shared by the recreation department and the schools.

Shooting victim returns home

After spending nearly one month in the hospital with a gunshot wound in the abdomen, Emanuel Henignburg, 40, of Romulus, has been released from the University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor.

Heningburg was reportedly shot during an attempted robbery at his home Jan. 30.

He was released from the hospital Feb. 25.

Clarification

The Feb. 22 article about ballot proposals for a special election in June should have stated city officials must advertise for bids for all material purchasing contracts for $750 or more, not $750,000 or more.

Person of the Year honored

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Person of the Year Dan Bales received the "star treatment" Friday evening at an awards banquet staged in his honor.

A banquet hall at the Holiday Inn was crammed with people set to honor the man chamber of commerce members believe contributed the most to the city during the past year.

The guest list included State Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton), school board members, city officials and Bales' family.

The award presentation was made by Jason Lovette, a past person of the year.

Nominations for the award are submitted by community members and finalists are then chosen by chamber of commerce members. The chamber board of directors selects the winner from among those finalists based on service to the community.

"No city has ever had more dedicated and caring people than Dan and Carole (Bales' wife)," Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnnally said.

Bales was presented with resolutions of recognition from city councilmembers, the board of education and from U.S. Rep. William Ford.

Bales, who has been a resident of Romulus for 20 years, can boast of a long list of accomplishments. He has served on the Romulus School Board since 1981 and has served as board president twice. He is now serving a third year as secretary.

Other accomplishments include: serving on the Romulus

Recreation Commission since 1975, serving on the Romulus Tax Increment Finance Authority Board, serving on the pastor/parish committee for the Community Methodist Church and serving on the city cable commission.

Bales organized the First Annual City Golf Outing in 1974. He has served as the co-chairman for Romulus Fourth of July parades, acted as master of ceremonies for games at the City Park, volunteered with the Harrison Elementary School Parent Teacher Organization, little league baseball and cub scouts, and announces the little league football games.

"If Dan's father were alive today and here in this room, there's no question he'd be the world's proudest man," said Bales' brother, John.

"Dan and Carole are a team. She's been Dan's number one supporter and back-up person. It would have been appropriate if we had a Romulus couple of the year," he said.

When Bales had his turn at the microphone, he offered his thanks to his wife and to his children, Bobby, Brian and Becky.

He also spoke of his father. "He was my best friend and my hero. In very special moments like this in my faith I feel his presence...He would be very proud tonight if he could be here," Bales said.

City initiates new siren warning system

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A new warning siren in Romulus would warn residents of weather disasters as well as chemical spills and nuclear attack.

The alarm will be tested as usual every Saturday at 1 p.m. If the siren is sounded any other time of day, city officials recommend going indoors and checking local television or AM radio stations for details.

"We're not trying to scare anybody," said Margaret Leduc, coordinator of Emergency Preparedness for Romulus. "The signal would get their (residents') attention. The first step of this program is to alert people, the next is to inform them what the danger is."

LeDuc said the warning system has been initiated in compliance with a federal law, SARA Title III. The law states the community has a right to know what chemicals are located in the city. It also states that an emergency plan must be established for any business which has a potentially dangerous chemical on the premises. The law lists more than 200 chemicals and the amount at which they are considered potentially dangerous.

Three Romulus businesses use chemicals which appear on the list and emergency plans have been created for them, Leduc said.

"As part of the plan we have included a way of warning people," Leduc said. "It's just in case something happens, a fire, a spill...something they can't control."

The SARA Title III law ties in with earlier laws regarding employees' right to know about the chemicals they work with, Leduc said.

With the siren warning system, information will be sent to television and radio stations telling residents where to take shelter or what roads to use as evacuation routes.

This is an appropriate time to think about safety, Leduc said. March 19 through March 24 is National Tornado Safety Week.

Local exercise fans form weekly walking club

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Exercise enthusiasts in Romulus have discovered a new way to work out and have fun at the same time - a walking club.

The first official meeting of the Romulus Rovers was staged Feb. 27 at the Romulus Recreation Center. Approximately 12 people attended, but several others have called the center to express interest in the club.

Currently, the Rovers plan to meet at the recreation center every Monday at 6 p.m. for a group walk.

Because members range in experience and stamina, a definite route has not been decided upon, according to Debbie Dick, recreation department director. The group is looking at a number of options, including walking with similar groups from other communities.

Eventually, members hope to add more walking days to their itinerary. They want to walk two more nights and one morning each week.

In addition, Rovers are discussing the establishment of a community "walk-a-thon" to be staged during Michigan Week.

"We're trying to encourage families to come," Dick said. "A married couple has already expressed interest in joining together."

The Romulus Rovers welcome anyone interested in joining them for walks. For more information call the recreation department at 942-6852.

"I thought about adoption, but decided I could never really do that," Buzonowski said. "I would even talk to the baby, apologize and tell him I had to give him up, but I couldn't really do it."

Gagnon presented her daughter with all the options. She made an appointment for her daughter to talk about adoption with a counselor. Before her daughter was pregnant, she talked to her about birth control and encouraged abstinence.

Now, Gagnon is a grandmother at age 31.

"I don't believe any baby is a mistake," Gagnon said. "I just cannot believe that, and so I do not believe in adoption."

Gagnon will help Buzonowski with the baby when she returns to school in the fall. But the young mother does not want to fall into the trap of confusing Grandma with Mom.

"I want to make sure my baby knows who mom is," Buzonowski said. "I don't know everything about what's going to happen, but who does really?"

The 15-year-old is walking into her new life with eyes wide open. She knows it will be difficult.

"Dating is tough when you have a baby at home, and waking up for late-night feedings makes it difficult to wake up in time for classes."

Buzonowski realizes this and is prepared to try.

Buzonowski plans to repeat 10th grade when she returns to school. She will study cosmetology.

Meanwhile, mother and daughter are learning to deal with their new situation one day at a time.

"It's tough because she is still my child, and I will still want to set down rules for her. But she will be a parent, too, setting down rules for her own child. We'll just have to deal with it," Gagnon said.

Celebrating Dr. Seuss

The 85th birthday of renowned children's author Dr. Seuss was celebrated during story time at the Romulus Public Library Thursday. The party was made complete with party hats and green eggs and ham. Even the Cat in the Hat was present. After listening to children's librarian Els Shelly (above) read the classic tale of Green Eggs and Ham, some of the children sampled the food from the story. They were rather reluctant, however. The party hats, such as the one Ronald Buckley III (left) wore were more popular. Story time is a regular event at the Romulus Public Library. Three- and 4-year-olds gather every Thursday morning for their stories. For more information call the library at 942-7589. ANP photos by Ann Grmes; staff photographer

CITY OF ROMULUS CHAPTER 12 AMENDMENT NUMBER #3

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTIONS 12-33(a), 12-33(b)(1), 12-34, 12-35 AND 12-36 OF ARTICLE III, FIRE PREVENTION AND PROTECTION ORDINANCE OF THE CODE OF ORDINANCES, CITY OF ROMULUS, MICHIGAN.

WHEREAS: It has been brought to the attention of the City Administration that the City Ordinance concerning fire lanes conflicts with the Uniform Traffic Code adopted by the City of Romulus.

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus deems it in the best interest of the citizens of the City of Romulus to amend the City Ordinance consistent with the Uniform Traffic Code to require the approval of both the Fire Chief, or designee, and the Traffic Engineer on matters relative to fire lanes.

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS: That sections 12-33(a), 12-33(b)(1), 12-34, 12-35 and 12-36 of Article III Fire Prevention and Protection Ordinance is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 12-33(a) AUTHORITY AND CRITERIA
(a) The Fire Chief or designee in conjunction with the Traffic Engineer shall be responsible for establishing fire lanes on private property within the City. The following criteria shall be used in determining the necessity for fire lanes:

Section 12-33(b) (1) Whenever the Fire Chief or designee and Traffic Engineer deem such lanes necessary for the safety of occupants and property of the above enumerated establishments; or

Section 12-34 GUIDELINES FOR DEPARTMENT OF BUILDING AND SAFETY

It shall be the duty of the Fire Chief or designee and Traffic Engineer to establish guidelines for use by the Department of Building and Safety in determining the need for fire lanes on all new construction sites and at modification of existing structures. These guidelines shall include those criteria found in Section 12-33 and shall further include minimum dimensions for fire lanes, so as to provide adequate maneuverability for city fire vehicles during the construction phase of the project. The Fire Department and Department of Public Works shall make a final check of all plans for such building or alteration upon submission of same by the Department of Building and Safety. The Fire Department and Department of Public Works shall either approve or reject such plans within twenty (20) days of submission and, if rejected shall state the reasons for such rejection. After rejection, such plans may be resubmitted for approval after the necessary changes have been made.

Section 12-35 NOTICE TO OWNER OF PROPERTY
It shall be the duty of the Fire Chief or designee and Traffic Engineer to notify the landowner of any property whereon fire lanes are established by mailing notice of the establishment of fire lanes to the address of the owner as found of the City Assessor.

Section 12-36 RECORDS
The Fire Department and Department of Public Works shall keep an accurate up-to-date record of all fire lanes established within the City. Except as herein modified, the Code of Ordinances, City of Romulus, Michigan shall continue in full force and effect. The provisions of this amendatory ordinance shall take effect immediately upon publication as required by City Charter.

I, Linda R. Choate, CMC, Clerk, for the City of Romulus do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an Ordinance duly adopted by the Romulus City Council at its regular meeting held on the 14th day of February, 1989.

Linda R. Choate, CMC, Clerk, City of Romulus

ATTEST: Beverly McAnally, Mayor

Withing forty five (45) days after the publication of any ordinance duly passed by the Council, a petition may be presented to the Council protesting against such ordinance continuing in effect. Said petition shall contain the text of such ordinance and shall be signed by not less than Six (6%) percent of the registered electors registered at the last preceding election at which a Mayor of the City was elected. Said Ordinance shall thereupon and thereby be suspended from operation and the Council shall immediately reconsider such Ordinance.

Seniors urged to explore careers

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

When high school seniors are planning their futures, it is important to know "which careers are hot and which are not."

Because students invest their time and money in their college educations, they want to be assured that their training will open the door to a rewarding career, said Wayne County Community College counselor Fred Novack. To aid area students in selecting a future career, WCCC is staging, "Opportunities Galore 1989," at the Western Campus on Haggerty Road from 1 to 5 p.m. March 9.

"Among the hottest career choices are the high-tech areas and business in combination with a foreign language," Novack said. "Many other careers also offer excellent potential for the future. For example, there continues to be a need for professionals in the health-care field in a variety of career opportunities."

"We have scheduled 54 employers with a cross-section of job opportunities at our career fair. This is not only for high school students seeking a direction for further training, but for those who want to upgrade their jobs or seek new opportunities in the job market," Novack said.

In addition, he said, some employers will be offering job applications to interested people.

"One of the largest informational exhibits at the career fair will be sponsored by Annapolis Hospital," Novack said. "Representatives will be available from the medical/surgical, maternal and child care, special care and operating room nursing staff. Annapolis Hospital will also have representatives from their pharmacy, cardio-pulmonary, x-ray, social services, laboratory and patient services departments."

Other employers scheduled to attend are J.C. Penney, United Parcel Service, Kelly Services, Marriott Host, Blackwell Ford, American Truck Driving School, Internal Revenue-Computing Center, Michigan State Police, Northwest Airlines, First of America Bank, U.S. Postal Service, Detroit Edison and Domino's.

In addition to the career fair, WCCC offers a variety of employment-related services to students and alumni, including a current listing of employment opportunities.

Students debate education reform

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

Two Romulus High School students earned the opportunity to speak their minds on the issue of educational reform.

The students, Jodee Jernigan, 17, and Cara Cichowski, 16, both seniors at the high school will appear on the WXON-TV production of About Town, which will be broadcast at 10 p.m. March 12. The show was taped two weeks ago.

Romulus High School Principal Tom Dolan selected the students to attend the forum.

Both Jernigan and Cichowski expressed their views on education.

"This show was about education and reform and about making our public schools better. I talked about getting back to the basics in school. On the show, I said we need to get back to the basics and not train students at jobs early," Jernigan said.

Shaky nerves did not prevent Jernigan from speaking her mind.

Jernigan hopes to major in communications at the University of Michigan.

Cichowski said it was exciting to see what happens behind the scenes at a television station, but it was even more exciting to speak out on an issue.

"We were talking about where educators fall short with at-risk dropout students. I explained a little about a student symposium we recently had that dealt with dropouts. I also talked about a positive peer influence program which will discuss dropouts when we start it next fall," Cichowski said.

Cichowski dreams of becoming a politician. She will attend either Western Michigan University or the University of Toledo.

Cichowski believes education should be stricter for students and more attention should be given to younger students.

"In the U.S. we need to work harder to educate people to compete in the foreign markets. We have to build self-esteem," Cichowski said.

"I also care a lot about student apathy. We are trying to find ways for students to have more pride in their school. We also need to stress that a lot more students need to be treated like adults," Jernigan said.

Leadership skills refreshed at camp

Approximately 52 student leaders from South Middle School, in Belleville, visited Camp Storer recently to improve their leadership skills.

The students studied new leadership techniques and problem-solving methods during the three-day camp, according to Mary Jane Ferrett.

Ferrett joined students on the trip, along with Principal Jim Richendollar, Assistant principal John Forsyth and teachers Ruth Ann Herkimer, Paul Smith, Joe Monte and Kristen Kreiner.

"This was an opportunity to work closely with each other and pull each other together. We sat around and did a lot of problem-solving activities," Ferrett said.

One of the activities included a "trust fall," in which a student would fall backwards off a picnic table into the arms of fellow students.

"In the evening, students went in their groups and participated in the dutch auction. They were in competitions, such as who had the longest shoe laces and who could make the saddest face. They put creative ideas together during the activity," Ferrett said.

Students participated in another activity in which an entire group of students walked across two boards placed across two tree stumps to form a bridge. Students were urged to help one another in each of the physical feats.

"This gave the students appreciation for differences of opinion and made them realize many others have the same fears as they do," Ferrett said.

Enjoying Good Health

THERE IS NO PROTECTION FROM THE COMMON COLD

By Karl Merkle, M.D.

Your neighbor probably has one. So does your co-worker. Your child is just getting over one, and your spouse will get it sooner or later. You are probably its next victim.

It is the common cold, and it will affect nine out of every 10 Americans at least once this year. People of all ages are susceptible, but children, and adults who live with children, seem to suffer more frequent colds.

The symptoms associated with the common cold—the runny nose, teary eyes, and rasping cough—may be caused by any one of more than 200 viruses.

NO CURE

There is no cure for a cold and no sure way to prevent one. The only way to try to prevent a cold is to stay away from people who have colds.

Colds are often spread by hand-to-hand contact with a cold sufferer, or by hand contact with a surface contaminated with a cold virus. Washing your hands frequently and using a disinfectant spray on contaminated surfaces may help reduce the spread of colds.

Once you have a cold, adequate rest and plenty of fluids may help you feel better. Fluids prevent dehydration and help loosen mucus.

GET RELIEF

If the symptoms are quite pronounced, a decongestant may provide some relief. It reduces swelling of the mucus membranes in the nose and may make breathing easier. However, nasal sprays should be avoided because they have a rebound effect, causing stuffiness to recur several hours after use.

Antibiotics usually have no place in treating colds but they may be necessary to treat secondary infections, such as ear infections in children.

Colds may seem to be more of a nuisance than a serious worry, but they can increase susceptibility to other infections. Furthermore, they may be dangerous to the elderly and to those with lung problems.

Name that store

A&P markets to change in July

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Area A&P shoppers are in store for some changes in July. That is when the name of local grocery stores will change to Farmer Jack.

The switch is the result of the recent purchase of Borman's Inc. (Farmer Jack Supermarkets) by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, Inc. By July, most of the Metropolitan Detroit A&P markets are expected to be converted to Farmer Jack stores.

Eventually, all Michigan A&P stores will be converted.

Micheal Rourke, vice president of corporate affairs for the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, explained the reason for the switch.

"A&P has taken a new approach. We're trying to establish a very strong retail organization," he said. "A&P has a good franchise but not as strong as Farmer Jack."

Existing Farmer Jack stores will not be affected by the purchase nor will most out-of-state A&P stores, Rourke said.

In addition, the change should not concern A&P workers, he said.

"There should be no effect at all. There are two different contracts, but they are similar," Rourke said.

An advertising campaign to inform shoppers of the change is currently in the works.

Meanwhile, some shoppers have already heard the news.

"I can't understand it," mused Wayne resident Esther Burling.

"We'll still come here," her husband, Bob, said.

"I don't care. I don't shop much at either," said Marceline Files, of Canton Township.

Some people are pleased with the change.

"I like Farmer Jack better," Pearl Stover, of Wayne, said.

"Farmer Jack is my store," said Janis Williams, of Romulus, "as long as the prices stay the same as Farmer Jack prices."

Williams shops for groceries for several local senior citizens. She said the seniors would suffer most with price increases.

A&P prices have already gone up, according to Wayne resident Don Doherty, a retired grocer and butcher.

"Within the last week, the prices have all gone up," he said.

Specific dates of the name-change for area stores include the following:

- July 9 - Westland store, 132 Merriman Road;
- July 30 - Canton Township store, 43403 Joy Road;
- July 30 - Wayne store, 35400 Michigan Avenue; and
- July 30 - Belleville store, 10900 Belleville Road.

The familiar A&P logo will be local history after July. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

Regional bus budget nets local criticism

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

Representatives of the Southeast Michigan Authority for Regional Transportation Board of Directors are facing their first battle, only one month after the area mass-transportation agency was created.

In an effort to cut the 1989 SMART budget, board members from Oakland and Macomb counties are asking that funds for the Westland-based Nankin Transit Commission be eliminated. Last year, SEMTA - the regional mass-transit predecessor to SMART - allocated $500,000 to NTC.

The NTC provides transportation for the elderly and handicapped and economically disadvantaged in Westland, Wayne, Inkster, Garden City and Canton Township. Twelve small connector buses are used for the service.

Because the NTC service is not extended to either Macomb or Oakland county, SMART board members from the two counties believe the local service is unnecessary.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara and Deputy County Executive Michael Duggan are continuing to negotiate with the other board members, hoping to restore the funds before a final budget is approved July 1. If the current proposed SMART budget is implemented, the NTC bus service will be halted, according to Charles Hunter, NTC director.

"We're trying every possible way to convince them to keep Nankin," Duggan said. "We know Nankin is doing a great job."

According to reports from NTC officials, SMART board members from Oakland and Macomb counties intend to run a small connector bus service of their own. Last week, the purchase of 112 small buses for SMART was approved by members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

However, Duggan said, the 112 new buses are not a part of any plan to replace the NTC service. They were purchased to replace outdated buses in the SMART fleet, Duggan said.

STATE NEWS DIGEST

Lawmakers eye welfare reform

Members of the state House of Representatives are considering legislation aimed at reducing welfare dependency, by providing medical-care coverage, day-care and transportation assistance to people who leave public assistance for paid employment.

Communities would be encouraged to respond to the continuing need for child care and transportation through matching funds for local efforts.

Bill eliminates 'Medigap' woes

A proposed state House bill would regulate the marketing of "Medigap" insurance policies, which are designed to pay for medical expenses not covered by Medicare.

The bill would require insurers to determine if a potential purchaser of a "Medigap" policy is indeed eligible for Medicare coverage. In the bill, if an ineligible policy holder has paid any premiums, the insurer must return the money.

Tougher trucker rules are eyed

A bill now in the state House of Representatives would allow stronger legal action against commercial truck or bus drivers who drink and drive.

The bill would require the state to suspend or revoke a commercial driver's license if the convicted driver's blood-alcohol level measured .40 or more at the time of the arrest. The current punishable blood-alcohol level for all drivers is .10, more than twice as high as the level proposed for commercial drivers.

Boat sanitation rules considered

State House members are studying a bill that would require boats with marine-sanitation devices to also be equipped with pollution-control devices.

The bill would also prohibit discharging raw sewage from boats in state waters.

Docking facilities with a capacity of 16 watercraft or more would also have to provide pump-out facilities for boats with sanitation-holding tanks.

Bill continues toxic-site funds

Legislation has been introduced in the state House that would establish a long-term maintenance trust fund in the state treasury to provide continued monitoring and cleanup of contaminated groundwater sites.

Interest and earnings of the trust would remain in the fund, to be used exclusively for environmental cleanup, rather than reverting to the general fund.

Drug funds eyed for education

A new bill in the state House would allow money seized in drug crimes to be used to support substance-abuse education in Michigan schools.

The measure would direct 10 percent of all such seized money to substance-abuse education-training for teachers and to drug-prevention programs for elementary and high-school children.

Vets net low sports fees

A bill recently passed by members of the state House would allow certain disabled armed-services veterans to obtain a state hunting or fishing license at the same lower fee as paid by senior citizens.

In the bill, a Michigan resident who has service-connected total disabilities, other than blindness, would be eligible for the lower license rate.

Try, try again

Lawmakers optimistic about new school plan

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Would Michigan taxpayers trade a two cents hike in sales taxes for a 30-percent reduction in property taxes?

Local state lawmakers believe they would.

A proposal aimed at reforming the way public schools are financed in the state was approved last week by members of the state House of Representatives, 87-14, and was sent to the state Senate. Members of the Senate are expected to act on the proposal this week.

Sponsored by state Reps. Michael E. Nye (R-Litchfield) and Glenn S. Oxender (R-Sturgis), the proposal is the third major school-finance-reform package introduced by the lawmakers during an 18-month period. Previous proposals failed to gain adequate support.

The newest package, lawmakers say, would generate an additional $500 million for schools.

If the proposal is approved by members of the Senate, it could appear on the ballot for Michigan voters May 16.

One of the key features of the Nye-Oxender proposal, which didn't appear in the previous two proposals, is a "share the wealth" amendment. The first 9 mills of all residential property taxes and the first 14 mills of school tax on commercial and businesses will be earmarked for a statewide pool, which the state will redistribute.

There would also be a cap on the amount of millage a school district could levy. The exact amount of the cap has not been determined.

State Rep. William Keith (D-Garden City), whose district includes Inkster, said that the proposed bill is complicated and that the man-on-the-street may not understand it. Nevertheless, Keith believes the package will lift the burden of financing schools off of the shoulders of property owners.

"It would give immediate relief to the property owners," Keith said. "On the other hand, it would also generate new revenues for our schools. I am going to support it and recommend its passage."

"Even though the man on the street may not understand all of the complexities of this bill, the bottom line is that it addresses some of the major concerns of school financing and property-tax reform. In the final analysis, the voters will have to decide whether they want it or not," Keith continued.

Local state lawmakers who supported the proposal last week in the state House of Representatives included Keith, state Reps. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township), Justine Barns (D-Westland), Gerald Law (R-Plymouth) and Lynn Owen (D-Maybee).

No local state representative opposed the issue.

"It will cut property taxes and bring the disparity between school district spending down over a period of time," Kosteva said.

Local members of the state Senate are equally as optimistic about the proposal.

"I do have some misgivings about it, however," said state Sen. William Faust (D-Westland). "But my major concern is that, if this does get on the ballot and it fails, we won't have another school-finance-reform bill probably until the next century."

Despite anticipated widespread support of the new school proposal, state lawmakers admit that millage issues are difficult to push in the voting booth.

"The problem is that, according to the latest statistics, only 20 percent of the people of this state have kids attending schools, while the other 80 percent don't have kids in schools," Keith said.

Area youth is Easter Seals child

By TERRY JACOBY

The 1989 Easter Seal Telethon was seen last weekend on WDIV-TV Channel 4. As people from around Metro Detroit watched, the program meant a little something extra to one Wayne family.

Although there were many celebrities, the biggest "star" was 13-year-old Joseph Crews, of Wayne, who was selected as the poster child for the 1989 telethon.

The poster child represents all of the children served by the Easter Seal Society, which has been providing quality services and programs to people of all ages with disabling conditions since 1919.

JUST ONE GOOD AD

Have you ever thought, "If I could find one good ad I could quadruple my sales"? Have you ever inquired about how you might find that right ad? If you have you've probably been told that the only way is by trial and error.

But, what if a group of small advertisers in a number of cities got together and each tried a few ads sharing their results with each other? If one finds a "block buster" it can be used by the others successfully also. This would be testing in a Co-op method. Together advertisers perform one massive test that they could not possibly afford individually. Co-op works successfully wherever tried. It can work in the advertising industry also.

Water rate is level

Municipal supplier holds line on wholesale prices

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Residents in western Wayne County can expect no changes in wholesale water and sewer rates in 1989-90, according to a proposal by the city of Detroit Water and Sewerage Department.

That's good news for local homeowners as well as city and township officials. But it doesn't mean local governments won't increase the rates charged to homeowners to cover the local costs of construction, maintenance and billing.

In 1980, according to a published report, officials from most suburbs marked up wholesale water prices by more than 100 percent. The markups vary, the report indicated, due to different approaches to paying for water-system construction and from the higher costs associated with maintaining an older water and sewage system.

Locally, wholesale water rates are marked up 140 percent in Belleville; 107 percent in Canton Township; 160 percent in Inkster; 152 percent in Romulus; 347 percent in Sumpter Township; 196 percent in Van Buren Township; 60 percent in Wayne; and 96 percent in Westland.

The marked-up wholesale price is the amount charged to homeowners and commercial water users, according to statistics provided by the Detroit Water and Sewerage Department.

The Detroit water department provides water to 97 communities and four million people. More than 700 million gallons of water each day are used, according to reports.

Sewage services are typically provided and charged by Wayne County officials.

"We're glad the water rate is not going up," said Ed Rothfelder, of the city of Wayne. "We buy our water from Detroit. The sewer rates come from Wayne County."

"We do charge local charges here, but we have not settled on the next budget yet. We have some costs for Supersewer, but we have no idea yet on the rates. We don't expect much change."

Jim Panos, of the city of Romulus, was unsure whether water and sewage rates would increase.

"Seeing is believing," Panos said. "I don't know. It's good news if they don't raise rates."

Western Wayne County residents receive water from the Detroit River and Lake Huron. In 1974, the Lake Huron Water Plant began pumping water to the Greater Detroit area.

The Lake Huron plant has a total capacity of pumping 1.5 billion gallons of water each day.

Although the supply of fresh water seems endless, officials from some communities are not as optimistic about the sewage system in place throughout the area.

Sluggish movement on the North Huron Valley Sewer Project - also known as Supersewer - caused officials from some communities to withdraw from the project. Canton Township is one such community.

In July 1990, construction is scheduled to begin in Canton Township for a sewer system tying that community, Plymouth Township and Northvil-

Water rates are level

Wholesale water rates charged by the city of Detroit will not increase this year, although local water and sewerage rates may fluctuate. What follows is a list of the water and sewerage rates charged in each local community and the average use per year per household.

Water and sewerage rates are per 1,000 gallons. Use rate is the average number of gallons used per household per year.

COMMUNITY	WATER	SEWAGE	USE
Belleville	$12.85 *	$1.43	80,000
Canton Township	$1.07 	$1.41	120,000
Inkster	$0.74	$1.15	105,000
Romulus	$0.74	$1.15	105,000
Wayne	$0.82	$1.18	100,000
Westland	$1.03	$1.23	132,000

* In Belleville, water charge is a $12.85 minimum bill, plus 62 cents for each 1,000 gallons of water after that use amount.

 In Canton Township, the minimum water bill is for 5,000 gallons.

State funds to aid local county 'lakes'

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

County plans to provide canoeing in and golfing along the Rouge River were aided recently by a $76,000 state grant that will fund a recreational-potential study of four local "lakes."

The Michigan Departments of Natural Resources grant will provide the study for four existing impoundments - water gatherings for irrigation purposes - along the Middle Rouge River, according to Eric Reickel, county director of parks and recreation.

The study is a "crucial turning point" in the revitalization of the county parks system, Reickel said.

"We're quite excited," Reickel said. "This is a real important link in bringing Wayne County parks back. It is vital to show people what the recreational potential of the Middle Rouge Parkway is."

Impacted by the study will be Phoenix Lake, in Northville; Wilcox Pond, in Plymouth; Newburgh Lake, in Livonia; and Nankin Pond, in Westland. The four impoundments stretch along the Middle Rouge Parkway, from Five Mile Road to Ann Arbor Trail.

Design and professional services for the project will be provided by the Kalamazoo firm of O'Boyles, Cowell, Blalock and Associates, Inc. The firm has won two 1988 Waterfront Center awards for the design of the Battle Creek and the Allegan waterfront projects.

The firm will develop a conceptual master plan to develop the recreational potential of the impoundments, Reickel said. A more concentrated study will be performed on Wilcox Lake.

In September 1988, Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara unveiled the Wayne County Park Systems Recreation Master Plan, designed to initiate a detailed capital-improvement program during a five-year period.

Part of the funding for the county plan is from a $140 million bond issue approved by state voters last fall. The bond issue was designed to fund the cleanup of various targeted environmental concerns throughout the state and aid recreational projects.

Of the monies, $70 million is earmarked to fund local recreation projects, such as the Wayne County master plan.

Along with plans to refurbish waterfronts along the Middle Rouge, county officials hope to construct an 18-hole Inkster Valley Golf Course and establish other revenue-generating alternatives, such as canoe rental on the banks of the river.

A county goal is to create a self-funding county parks system, Reickel said.

Already being implemented in the county plan is a bike path in the Middle Rouge Parkway. The path - to be constructed this spring - will connect an existing bike route from the Warren Valley Golf Course to Inkster Road.

The $52,590 project is funded through a grant spearheaded by state Rep. Dick Young (D-Dearborn Heights).

Crews' mother was happy for her son, who has a twin brother Jimmy, and a 14-year-old brother, Jayson.

Since 1983, Crews has been involved in the Wayne County Easter Seal's summer camp, a six-week program offering recreational activities to physically handicapped children.

More than 74,282 people in the tri-county area receive services provided by the Easter Seal Society.

A little chocolate for solace

just desserts

sue willert

For anyone out there who hasn't noticed, February finally ended. Here we are in the first week of March and things are supposed to begin to look better and brighter. Confidentially, they don't.

This past week, the entire staff here has been attempting to find any kind of solace in the circumstances surrounding our equipment breakdowns, up to and including the prediction that some day we will laugh at it all and tell the stories to our grandchildren. At this rate, some of us won't live long enough to see our kids, let alone any future descendants.

In case you missed our front-page announcement last week, the most crucial piece of equipment to producing this product, our typesetting machine, broke down.

On Wednesday, after phone calls to just about everyone less than a vice president, we borrowed parts to find out we didn't need them, but actually needed the most expensive part the machine contains. We ordered it. They didn't ship it, and when they did, they sent it to Memphis. Are you getting the idea?

All this to apologize for the typographical errors in the recipe last week. Anyone who attempted paschka should know that you use either a half cup of chopped dried citrus OR the grated rind of one lemon, not both. We can spot anyone who ate the treat made from the recipe given here last week easily - they are probably still pucker up. The rest of the typographical errors weren't too serious, except to my pride.

In an attempt to make up, here's a recipe that is relatively easy, full of chocolate to soothe those February blues (even though it is March) and put everyone in a better mood.

Fudgey pecan cake

- 3/4 cup butter, melted
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
- 3 egg yolks
- 1/2 cup plus 1 tablespoon cocoa powder
- 1/2 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 3 tablespoons water
- 3/4 cup finely chopped pecans
- 3 egg whites, at room temperature
- 1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- Royal glaze (recipe follows)

Line the bottom of a 9-inch springform pan with aluminum foil. Butter foil and side of pan. Set aside. Combine 3/4 cup melted butter, sugar and vanilla in large mixer bowl and beat well. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in cocoa, flour, oil and water and beat well. Stir in chopped pecans. Beat egg whites, cream of tartar and salt in small mixer bowl until stiff peaks form. Carefully fold into chocolate mixture. Pour into prepared pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until top begins to crack slightly. (Cake will not test done in center.) Cool one hour. Chill until firm. Remove side of pan. Glaze when cool.

Royal glaze

- 8 blocks (8 ounces) semi-sweet baking chocolate, broken into pieces
 - 1/2 cup whipping cream
- Combine chocolate and cream in small saucepan. Cook over very low heat, stirring constantly, until chocolate is melted and mixture is smooth. DO NOT BOIL. Remove from heat, cool, stirring occasionally, until mixture begins to thicken, about 15 minutes. (You can substitute 1 1/3 cups semi-sweet chocolate chips for baking chocolate.)

THIS COOK'S THE REAL McCOY

Inkster resident is fine-food collector

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Patricia McCoy has a nose for good recipes. Since she was a teenager, the Inkster resident has been in search of unique recipes. Today, she has six or seven file boxes crammed with her collections. Still more recipes, waiting to be tested, fill kitchen drawers.

Along with checking newspapers and magazines, McCoy often listens to a radio show geared for people practicing her hobby. Collectors call in and exchange recipes over the air waves.

One of McCoy's recipes paid off for her in November. Her recipe for noels (cookies) won her third place in the Associated Newspaper Holiday Cookbook contest.

Why did McCoy become such an avid recipe collector? She said the hobby dates to the years when she was growing up.

"At home, we ate dumb things," she said.

Typical meals served by McCoy's mother included bacon, boiled potatoes and bread. Occasionally, hamburger or roast was substituted as a main dish, but potatoes and bread were served every day.

"When I got a little older and went to girlfriends' homes, I discovered food," McCoy explained.

McCoy decided to learn how to cook and discover recipes with variety and flair.

She remembers her first job at a soda fountain in an old Kresge store. McCoy was known to invent all types of ice-cream concoctions in her spare time.

"I like to cook, because it's creating," she said.

Even when McCoy finds good recipes, she likes to experiment with them. She remembers the early years of her marriage when she and her husband were on a limited budget.

"I learned to do a lot with hamburger," she said.

Casseroles appeared on McCoy's table often, much to her husband's dismay, she said.

McCoy also enjoys trying dessert recipes - except cake.

"I would rather bake a pie or cookies," she said.

Despite her enthusiasm for cooking and recipe collecting, McCoy's two children have not inherited her zeal.

"They weren't too keen, she said."

Meanwhile, McCoy is continuing to keep an eye out for creative recipes to add to her collection. She agreed to share several of her favorites.

Mushroom casserole

- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup beef bouillon
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon dried marjoram, crushed
- 2 6-ounce cans (2 cups) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 2 tablespoons dry sherry
- 2 tablespoons snipped parsley
- 1/2 cup coarsely crumbled saltine crackers
- 2 tablespoons parmesan cheese
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted

In saucepan, cook onion in the 1/2 cup butter or margarine until tender. Blend beef bouillon with cornstarch and marjoram. Add to onion mixture. Add mushrooms. Cook and stir until mixture thickens. Remove from heat. Stir in wine and parsley. Pour into 1-quart casserole. Combine cracker crumbs, parmesan cheese and the melted butter or margarine; sprinkle over casserole. Bake in 350-degree oven for 20 minutes or until hot and bubbly. Makes 6 servings. This casserole makes a nice side dish with roast beef.

Orange-pumpkin pudding

- 3 slightly beaten eggs
- 1 cup canned pumpkin
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon allspice
- 1/4 teaspoon grated orange peel
- 1 1/4 1/2-ounce can evaporated milk

Combine eggs, pumpkin, sugar, cinnamon, allspice and orange peel. Slowly stir in the evaporated milk. Pour into six 5-ounce custard cups. Place in a shallow baking pan. Pour hot water around cups to a depth of 1 inch. Bake in a 325-degree oven about 50 minutes or until knife inserted off-center comes out clean. Chill. Garnish each serving with whipped cream and a sprinkle of cinnamon. Makes 6 servings.

Cheese spread

- 2 pound loaf of processed cheese
- 2 5-ounce jars horseradish
- 1 pound bacon
- Hot sauce
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise

Combine cheese with horseradish, crisp and crumbled bacon, 3 or 4 dashes of sauce and mayonnaise. Mixture can be stored up to 1 month.

Hungry boy's casserole

- 1 1/2 pounds grand beef
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 3/4 cup water
- 1 8-ounce can tomato paste
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate (optional)
- 1 1-pound can pork and beans, undrained
- 1 1-pound can chick peas or lima beans, undrained

For the biscuits:

- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 cup sliced pimento-stuffed olives
- 1/4 cup blanched, slivered almonds

Saute in skillet beef, celery, onion, green pepper and garlic until tender. Drain. Add water, tomato paste, salt, paprika and monosodium glutamate. Reserve 1 cup of mixture for biscuits. Add beans and peas. Simmer.

Stir flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in butter until fine. Combine with milk. Stir until moist. Knead on floured surface 12 times. Roll to 12-by-9-inch rectangle. Combine olives, almonds and reserved meat. Spread over dough. Roll up, starting with 12-inch side. Cut into 1-inch pieces. Place meat mixture in 12-by-8 or 11-inch round baking dish. Top with biscuits. Bake in 425-degree oven 25 to 30 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

Chocolate nut balls

- 6 ounces semisweet chocolate pieces
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 egg
- 1 cup sifted powdered sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup flaked coconut (with extra for rolling)
- 1/2 cup chopped peanuts

In medium saucepan, melt chocolate and butter over low heat. Stir frequently. Remove from heat when chocolate is completely melted. Cool to luke warm. Beat in egg until smooth and glossy. Add sugar and vanilla. Mix well. Stir in 1/2 cup coconut and chopped nuts. Chill 1 hour. Form 1-inch balls. Roll in coconut. Place on baking sheet and chill 3 hours.

Banana buttermilk griddle cakes

- 4 large eggs, separated
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1 1/2 cups buttermilk
- 2 tablespoons unsalted butter, melted and cooled
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
- 3 medium bananas, finely chopped
- 1 1/2 cups cake flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 3/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon

In large bowl, beat egg yolks with sugar until light. Beat in buttermilk, butter, vanilla, lemon rind and bananas. Sift flour with baking powder, soda and cinnamon. Mix into banana mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff. Fold into pancake batter. Heat griddle or skillet until a drop of water skates over surface. Using a 1/4 cup measure, pour batter onto griddle and cook until brown. Turn and brown other side.

MACHU PICCHU PERU

As you fly into Lima, Peru, over the Andes, you will be fascinated by the rain forest, the immense landscapes, and the sheer beauty of this capital city. Your flight to Cuzco, the ancient capital of the Incas, is short. Be sure to rest a day, in this sky high 11,444 foot city, to become accustomed to the altitude.

You will ride the narrow gauge railroad to Machu Picchu, the awe-inspiring Lost City of the Incas. Although the Incas could neither read nor write and had never seen a wheel, they invented the suspension bridge and built massive rock walls precisely fit together without mortar. Perched on a narrow strip of land, between precipitous mountains and jungle, it was obscured from view for centuries and only uncovered in 1911.

Climb to the heights, if you can, and imagine what the palaces, plazas and temples must have looked like when this refuge in the clouds was home to one of the greatest civilizations known to man. One week packages from Miami start as low as $881 per person.

Romulus, Robichaud reign as champs

Davis lifts Eagles to Class A throne

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Virgil Davis' five consecutive three-point baskets and Eric Lightsey's two clutch free throws in the final eight seconds of the game sealed a 61-58 Romulus thrilling victory over Taylor Truman that gave Coach Dan Henry and the Eagles their second Class A district basketball championship within a span of three years.

Truman, which had defeated Romulus last year in a double-overtime cliffhanger for the district title, came within seconds of repeating the upset Friday night before a jammed-packed crowd at Romulus High.

In a wild finish, Truman, which had never led through the first three periods, snatched the lead away from the host with 38 seconds left on the clock when Marshall Newsome sank a pair of free throws to tie the game at 57-all, then gave the visitors the lead 58-57 for the first time.

Romulus had helped the defending district champs by blowing a seven-point lead (with 3:40 remaining). The Eagles committed three quick turnovers that Truman turned into fast-breaks and baskets.

"I would have to categorize this as one of the biggest victories in my coaching career," said Romulus Coach Dan Henry whose team will take a 15-8 overall record into this week's regional championship at Willow Run. "Needless to say, that final minute had me concerned."

"And after that tremendously emotional letdown last year when we lost to them in double overtime, you always wonder, 'Could it happen again?'"

History didn't repeat. And one major reason was the phenomenal shooting of junior guard, 5-11 Virgil Davis.

Davis drilled in five three-pointers, coming up with what coaches like to call "big baskets" in critical situations to keep his team in control.

With a thrilling last second victory over Taylor Truman Friday night, Romulus High again reigns as district basketball champs. In the photo above, 6-8 center Grayam Scott (54) provides the key for guard Virgil Davis (dark jersey) to slip through the back door for a reverse layup. It was Davis' five straight three-pointers that also opened the way to a 61-58 Eagle triumph. Below, elated Romulus cagers celebrate after being presented with the district championship plaque. Bulldogs finally get their act together

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Robichaud finally got its basketball act together. And without much to spare.

Floundering and plummeting into the depths of the Suburban Athletic Conference, Coach Monte Dennard and his Bulldogs managed to safe face as they rallied to defeat two arch opponents - Inkster and Dearborn Divine Child in the playoffs.

After stepping over Inkster, the Bulldogs met and repelled the Falcons of Divine Child, 54-51, to claim the district championship at Willow Run. The victory also handed the Dearborn Heights cagers a ticket to the regional tournament which got underway last night at Ypsilanti High School.

Robichaud drew Milan for its first test, and if the Bulldogs surfaced as winners they would meet the winner of the River-view Gabriel Richard and Tecumseh game in the finals, scheduled for 7 p.m. at Thursday.

Robichaud has apparently closed up its ranks after losing one of its top performers in Michael Aaron who was ruled ineligible after completing his eighth semester in January.

Rodney James and Mychele Hart have taken over the reins of the team and, with James pumping in 14 points, and Hart added 12, Robichaud shot down the Falcons for their 12th victory in 11 losses.

D.C. received 14 points from Bill Bannon. The Falcons ended a 9-12 season.

Within grasp of a victory over their natural rival Robichaud, the Vikings of Inkster High saw their hopes of a Class B district championship Thursday evening dissipate as they fumbled through the final period and fall to Coach Monte Dennard's Bulldogs 61-52 in the semifinals at Willow Run.

Robichaud exploded to a 24-9 advantage in the last eight minutes of the fourth period to break open a close game. The Bulldogs had trailed all of the first three periods, then staged a fiercest rally that was aided by the Vikings' ineptness at the point-guard post.

Inkster committed 12 agonizing turnovers that opened the door to their demise.

"The pressure got to our guards in that final period," Inkster Coach George Thompson noted, "and we began to spray the ball around the court. They (Robichaud) took advantage of the situation."

"You know that has been one of our problems this year," Thompson continued. "We have not been able to come up with someone who could handle the point-guard responsibilities."

The Vikings closed out the 1988-89 campaign with an 8-13 overall record.

Making the most of the Inkster mayhem in that turnaround fourth quarter were Robichaud's Rodney James and Eric Thomas, the Bulldogs' two top scorers. James drove in for nine of his 16 points and Thomas chipped in with six to provide the champs with most of their scoring power that blasted the Vikings out of the district tournament.

Up to that point, it appeared that Inkster was going to win the "rubber game" between the two Suburban Athletic Conference rivals. Robichaud had beaten the Vikings in their first SAC encounter; Inkster came back to its home court and re-crippled.

The Vikings, with 6-2 Kevin Pingston leading the way, worked to a 14-9 first period advantage and managed to maintain the five-point cushion to the intermission.

Pingston, who canned eight of nine free throws, also pumped in six baskets for a game-high 20 points. Teammates Orr and Kewley also were in double figures with 11 and 10 points while Gary Johnson had nine for the Vikings who made 11 of 15 at the free throw line.

Tigers ousted in semis

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus' ticket to the championship round of the Class A district basketball playoffs was a hard-fought 68-63 victory over Belleville.

The victory also avenged an earlier loss to Coach Michael Garland's Tigers who had beaten Romulus in another foul-filled battle.

In what was almost a replay of the earlier game, key players on both sides were not around when the final whistle sounded. Belleville lost top-scorer and its mainstay, Maurice Brantley, while Romulus had 6-8 center Grayam Scott, Eric Lightsey and Calvin Brown foul out.

Brantley saw most of the action from the bench in the third period as hard-driving Romulus senior guard Arol Trinity provided most of the early Eagle spark.

Trinity piled up 14 of his game high 20 points in the first half to stake the Eagles to a 19-16 first period and a 42-35 lead at halftime.

Diya Muhammed, who drew the responsibility of guarding the highly-touted Brantley, had his hands full. Brantley collected 17 points for the evening, however, that total came far short of his 25 point average average.

Belleville also didn't get any of its long-range missiles launched against the Eagles. They were shutout from the three-point range probably for the first time this season.

The battle turned into a defensive one in the third period and that led to a low-scoring affair as the Tigers came out with a 9-8 edge for the eight minutes. However, Romulus built up an 11-point cushion early in the fourth period before Brantley and his twin brother, Andre, managed to cut it down to six. However, Romulus had already inflicted the fatal wound and the Tigers never caught up.

"It was definitely a hard played game," said Romulus Coach Dan Henry. "And it wasn't something we didn't expect. They (Belleville) are an excellent team and we're just

Huron enjoys the finest hour in district playoffs

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Struggling throughout the 1988-89 season, New Boston Huron cagers enjoyed their finest hours in the Class B district playoffs.

After beating Ypsilanti Lincoln in the first round, Coach Larry Swick and his Chiefs used Airport, a team that they had lost to twice during the regular conference season, as their stepping stone to the championship round. The Chiefs stopped Airport the third time around, 66-56.

And in the finals, Huron made Milan sweat before falling 66-58 to Milan. Milan advanced to the regional playoffs at Ypsilanti High where the district champs played Robichaud last night.

"Milan earned the district title," said Huron Coach Larry Swick who added that he was proud at the way his team played in the tournament. "These kids never quit and they showed their true character during the playoffs."

Huron brought the curtains down to a 5-17 won-lost season.

Huron managed to carve out a 12-11 first-period lead over Milan in the first period as senior guards Mike Debozy and Mike Harrison went to work.

However, Craig Poet, given the tough job of stopping Milan sharpshooter Earl Ford, was tagged with a couple of early personal fouls, forcing Swick to sideline his starter.

Ford, held to two baskets the first eight minutes, opened up and rattled the nets for 14 of his game high 21 points, leading his team to a 33-27 advantage at halftime.

Milan managed to protect its seven-point lead as each team scored 11 points in the third period. The champs did not crumble in the fourth, either, when they capitalized on 14 of their 16 free throws. They finished with 19 of 25 from the free throw line. Debozy made five from the field to go along with his eight of nine at the foul line for 18 points.

Ford led all scorers with 21 and teammates Kevin Wanty and Anthony Griffin also scored in double figures. Wanty had 13 and Griffin 11.

With five different players contributing, Huron erased a 12-8 first period deficit to take a 30-20 halftime lead that they never surrendered to Airport. Debozy sank eight of his 18 and Harrison bagged five of his 20 points in the turnaround second period. Harrison also finished with 10 assists.

End of the line

Romulus High's dreams of a Class A district volleyball championship turned into a nightmare Saturday as Coach Gail Coleman's team was ousted in the first-round of the playoffs by Adrian, 15-8, and 15-4. Coleman commented that the Eagles were 'outplayed by an excellent team'. Adrian had defeated Romulus twice in South Central Conference competition earlier this season. Adrian, however, fell to the wayside in the finals when Wayne Memorial took a 15-6 first game win, dropped the second 15-4, and came back to win the third and deciding game 17-15. All-American Ex-Belleville wrestler places 2nd in nation

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Former Belleville High wrestling great Doug Chapman set a career record and earned All-American designation at the Division II National Collegiate Athletic Association championships staged Saturday and Sunday at the University of California, Penn.

The Ferris State senior headed into the nationals with a string of impressive victories and the Great Lakes Conference and regional titles behind him. Chapman was seeded number two behind Cal Penn's Ken Heckman at the national tournament.

Heckman and Chapman clashed in the finals Sunday and the top-seeded grappler lived up to his pre-tourney rating as he won a 10-4 victory over Chapman.

Chapman had defeated three opponents to reach the finals. His season record stretched to 38-8 and his career mark to 124-51.

Ferris finished second to Portland State (Oregon), which piled up 102.5 points, at the national. The Bulldogs of Ferris were runner up with 56.25 points while representatives from North Dakota and Nebraska Omaha were tied for third place with 50 points each.

Ferris also had four other All-American wrestlers: Gary Hoopes (150); Kirt Johnson (158), Brad Morris (167) and Doug Mooney (177).

Earlier Ferris and Chapman had captured Great Lakes Conference and regional championships. Coach Jim Miller's Bulldogs finished with a 11-3 overall dual meet record and had been ranked among the top Division II teams in the nation most of the season.

Romulus also received "fantastic" performances from 6-8 Grayam Scott, who dominated much of the action under the boards, and Diya Muhammed, who drew the assignment of stopping prolific Truman scorer Trevor Wormley.

Romulus took an 18-12 first period lead and held on at halftime despite a late surge by the Cougars who got baskets from Wormley, Donnell Williams and 6-6 Marshall Newsome that left them three points short of tying the game at halftime (31-28).

Both teams managed to put 16 points on the scoreboard in the third period, setting the stage for the thrilling conclusion.

Three Romulus players - Davis, Scott and Lightsey - finished in the double figure scoring column. Davis led the team with 18, followed by Scott's 15, and Lightsey checked in with 14.

Wormley led all scorers with 19 thanks to seven field goals (one of those was a three-pointer) and a four-for-four at the foul line. Williams added 12 and Newsome finished with 10 for the Cougars who had a 13-of-15 night at the foul line.

Romulus, horrendous at the charity stripe in the first half, salvaged a 14-of-29 performance.

Romulus advanced to the regional playoffs at Willow Run where the Eagles were scheduled to play South Central Conference rival, Ann Arbor Huron last night, in the first round. In the other bracket, Livonia Stevenson had to contend with Woodhaven.

The winners will advance to the regional championship. The finals are at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Where's the offense?

Belleville's Andre Brantley (44) runs up against an invisible wall of defense and waits for his teammates to catch up after this fast-break was stalled by Romulus' defense. Brantley and his twin brother, Maurice, scored in double figures, but it wasn't enough as the Eagles eliminated Belleville 68-63 in the semifinal round of the Class A district playoffs. Belleville coach Michael Garland said that the loss was a disappointment, "but give Romulus all the credit. They played an outstanding game, and it was defense that won it for them. It wish them all the luck in the playoffs." ANP photo by Linda Day/freelance photographer happy to come away with the victory."

It was also Romulus' sixth straight triumph.

Trinity, who collected nine from the field and was a perfect two for two at the line, finished with 20 points while Virgil Davis came up with one three-pointer among his six field goals. He was also four for four at the foul line, giving him 17 points for the evening. Teammate Muhammed chipped in 13 points and also 13 rebounds, while Scott had 14 rebounds and nine points.

Belleville, a 15-of-28 performer at the free throw line, received 17 points from Maurice and 12 from Andre Brantley. They were the only two Belleville players in two figures.
